

CRASH VIEWED AS ACCIDENTAL BY HENRY FORD

World's Richest Man
Chafes as His Physician Insists That He Remain in Bed.

LEAVES HOSPITAL
TO GO HOME AGAIN

Two Sources Near Manufacturer Have Not Yet Recanted Report of Murder Plot.

Detroit, April 1.—(United News.) Henry Ford, now definitely out of danger, has let it be known that he believes the automobile smash-up in which he was injured last Sunday night was the result of an accident and nothing more.

The millionaire automobile manufacturer told Harry Bennett, chief of his private investigators, after being removed to his home Friday, that he had never believed the injuries were the result of a deliberate attempt to harm him.

Bennett told the United Press that an examination of Ford's coupe, which rolled down an embankment when crowded off Michigan boulevard by another car, showed that it had been struck a very light blow by the other machine.

"Only the left front hubcap had been touched," Bennett said. "It is doubtful that the passing motorist even knew that the smaller car had been hit."

Although the manufacturer, who was removed from his own hospital secretly during the night, is recovering rapidly and beyond all danger of a collapse, his physicians say that he still is in considerable pain due to bruises and the splint in which his ribs are forced up.

HENRY FORD CHAFING AGAINST CONFINEMENT.
Detroit, April 1.—(AP)—Amidst the quiet, peaceful surroundings of his home, Henry Ford tonight impatiently obeyed the instructions of his personal physician that he remain in bed as the quickest and surest means of recovering from injuries received last Sunday night when a small coupe in which he was riding alone was forced from a road.

Meanwhile, statements and rumors describing the accident as a result of a deliberate attempt to kill Mr. Ford "grinded to an expression of belief that it actually was an accident, possibly unknown to the driver who caused it. The possibility of further official investigation virtually had vanished.

Never having known the restraint of a hospital, the world's richest man chafed under the doctor's orders, even in his own institution, the Henry Ford hospital, and demanded that he be returned to his home.

That the doctors permitted the injured man's wish to prevail was accepted as an indication that the X-ray and other examinations made at the hospital had disclosed nothing seriously wrong, despite a concussion and slight internal hemorrhages spoken of by the doctors.

TOT LOSES LIFE IN TUB OF WATER
AT GIRARD HOME
Columbus, Ga., April 1.—(AP)—Sarah Catherine Hull, 13 months old, was drowned today in a wash tub at her home in the Girard section of Phenix City, Ala., just across the Chattahoochee river from Columbus. The babe lost her life in an effort to retrieve a shoe that she had tossed into the tub of water. Losing her balance, she fell head foremost into the water and was drowned.

The unusual tragedy occurred while the little girl's mother was out of the room.

ATLANTA BANKERS
FACE 10 CHARGES
IN BANK FAILURE

J. S. Slicer and T. J. Norman, of Defunct Colonial Trust Company Indicted Friday.

J. S. Slicer, president and trustee, and T. J. Norman, vice president and trustee of the Colonial Trust company, local state banking institution which failed September 29, 1926, were jointly indicted Friday by the Fulton county grand jury on ten charges.

The indictments are the result of an investigation into affairs of the defunct company conducted under supervision of the solicitor general's office and the state banking department. Among charges made against the two officials are embezzlement, forgery, receiving gratuities ranging from $40 to $500 for procuring loans, fraudulent bank insolvency, and concealing assets.

For some time the offices of the trust company were located in the Healey building, but later moved to 37 Poplar street, where the crash occurred.

Trustees of the defunct institution, in addition to officials under indictment, are James C. Williams, Joseph H. Williams, Robert A. Smythe, Fred C. Mason, H. T. Dobbs and Dudley Cowles.

$150,000 Deposits.
Deposits amounting to approximately $150,000 were in the bank at the time of the failure, attaches of the solicitor's office said, while assets of the company amounted to approximately $480,000.

J. S. Slicer, president of the company, emphatically denied that the assets of the company had ever reached such a figure as $480,000. In a statement he said:

Season Seat
Sale for Opera Ends Tonight
Zero Hour Draws Near for Those Who Wish Choice Seats.

Zero hour for opera lovers of Atlanta and Georgia who want choice season tickets will come today at the office of the Cible Piano company at 84 Broad street, with the last opportunity to buy seats.

Because of the brisk sale the last two days arrangements have been made to keep the ticket office open until 8 o'clock tonight and longer if necessary to give all season ticket buyers a chance to get seats.

After the season ticket sale closes tonight it will not be possible to get reservations until the regular opera ticket sale is started.

This year's program is hailed as the greatest and best ever brought to Atlanta with a greater array of stars than has ever sung here in a single season in the south.

STEPS ARE TAKEN TO BLOCK REVOLT

Bucharest, April 1.—(United News.)—King Ferdinand of Rumania, who has been suffering for some time with cancer, is again near death. An attack of gripe has complicated his already weakened condition.

Reports to the court say that the monarch has suffered agony during the last 24 hours and that Queen Marie and other members of his family are at his bedside.

One report Friday said that a crisis might be passed during the night. Queen Marie of Jugo-Slavia, a daughter of King Ferdinand, was en route to the palace from Belgrade. She was traveling aboard the fastest naval vessel in the Jugo-Slavian navy and expected to debark at the Danube river town of Giurgio, proceeding by motor from there to Bucharest, 40 miles away.

PUBLIC IN BUCHAREST IS GROWING UNEASY.
Vienna, April 1.—(United News.)—Despite frequent bulletins from the physicians of King Ferdinand stating that his condition is satisfactory the public in Bucharest is said to be growing uneasy.

Reaching Vienna by way of Belgrade state that excitement in the Rumanian capital reached its peak Friday when it was revealed that as early as Wednesday night commanders of the army, of the general staff and representatives of safety organizations met and outlined plans to maintain peace in case the monarch died.

The officials in Bucharest are said to be anxious to forestall revolution. They are making every effort to prevent any movement of the late crown prince Carol in his last days.

RANGERS ORDERED TO OIL BOOM TOWN
Ten Men Are Sent by Governor Moody Following Request He Declare Martial Law.

Austin, Texas, April 1.—(AP)—Ten Texas rangers late today were ordered to Borger, Panhandle oil boom town, by Governor Dan Moody to "stay until the lawless unconditionally surrender."

The rangers were sent in answer to a request for martial law which Governor Moody said he did not think justified at present.

Captains Tom Hickman and Frank Ramey each with four privates, left for Borger, heavily armed.

Citizens and officials of Borger asked that the town be placed under martial law, following recent outbreaks in which two deputy sheriffs were killed and numerous other crimes committed.

FULL PROTECTION PROMISED TO ALL AMERICANS IN CHINA IN STATEMENT BY KELLOGG

LARGEST STATE BANK IN GEORGIA TO NATIONALIZE

Citizens and Southern
Plans To Secure National Bank Charter, President Lane Announces.

Announcement of the forthcoming nationalization of the Citizens and Southern bank, under provisions of the recently enacted McFadden law, was made by Mills B. Lane, president of the institution, in Savannah, Ga., Friday, and confirmed by officials of the Atlanta branch, Friday night.

Coming as it does on the heels of the announcement that the Bank of Italy, greatest state banking institution on the Pacific coast, has become nationalized as a result of the protective features of the McFadden law, the action taken by the Citizens and Southern bank, largest state bank in the southeast, looms as one of the most important movements in banking circles in recent months.

The United States comptroller of currency already has given permission to the Citizens and Southern bank to make the important change and the national charter is expected to be granted as soon as stockholders have approved according to law.

President's Statement.
In his announcement, President Lane said: "At a recent meeting of the directors of this bank, it was unanimously decided to ask permission of the stockholders to nationalize the Citizens and Southern bank. This request is being mailed to the stockholders tonight. The stockholders' meeting will be held on April 20."

H. Lane Young, executive manager of the Atlanta branch of the Citizens and Southern bank, said that the action had been contemplated six months ago.

"The directors have had this action in mind six months," he said. "We were awaiting the outcome of the McFadden bill before congress. Now that it has been enacted, the new law will permit our bank to accomplish those things which we desired. It will enable us to retain the same officers and simultaneously to take over the trust business, which latter is one of the most important branches of the business."

Directors Approve.
"The proposal was placed before the directors and the permission was given to hold a special meeting. This was done and the move was adopted. There is scarcely any doubt but that the stockholders will approve the nationalization."

With the Citizens and Southern State bank of the southeast, and the Citizens and Southern bank of the Pacific coast, the Citizens and Southern bank is one of the few state banks in the United States which have been nationalized.

Ten years ago the tendency was to drift away from the national system but the reverse is true since the McFadden law, which latter is one of the most important branches of the business.

'HOME BEAUTIFUL' OPENS TOMORROW
New Residence at 79
Clarendon Avenue, in Avondale Estates, Will Draw Big Crowds.

When The Constitution's fourth annual "Home Beautiful" exhibit opens to the public Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock a residence which will attract unusual attention will be the one just completed at 79 Clarendon avenue in Avondale Estates where three units of the show are located.

This house was erected at a cost of $12,500, and while one of the least expensive of those shown, it is one of the most attractive and is certain to draw more than its quota of the many thousands of people who will visit the exhibit during the eight days it is open.

Imported English Babies Sought for Adoption
SUPPLY OF AMERICAN ORPHANS IS SCANTY

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
New York, April 1.—The English baby has succeeded the English butler as the fashionable adjunct of the smart American home.

Cabled news from England that English babies are greatly in demand for adoption by Americans was substantiated by the announcement of New York child-placing agencies today that there are not enough American babies to supply the demand which just now is at the highest peak ever, according to Miss Sophie Van S. Theis, secretary of the child-placing committee of the State Charities Aid association.

At the same time it developed that Locarno has had some effect upon bringing about the brotherhood of man after all, or perhaps the parenthood, for English families, and especially Canadian families, are besieging the New York department of public welfare's child-placing bureau for American babies.

The demand for children, especially babies under six, and particularly girls, a demand coming from good homes, is far greater than the supply of infants for adoption," said Miss Theis, "and in some cases the would-be adopters have reached out to England for children."

There are several difficulties accompanying the adoptions. It is even more difficult to bring a baby in than to smuggle an antique through the customs. This barrier, Miss Theis said, has militated against anything like a widespread adoption of British infants, yet the situation already has brought forth a formal English protest.

The "imported" English baby must come in as part of that nation's regular immigration quota. Still another difficulty is the fact, brought to the attention of the placing committee by Charles Evans Hughes, former secretary of state, Miss Theis declared, that adoption does not influence nationality.

According to Miss Fawley, of the city welfare department, Canada has reciprocated with an unusual demand for American girl babies. And England is not far behind in requests.

But these applications are courteous by request. "We have a rule forbidding the placing of children with anyone but a citizen of this country," Miss Fawley said.

The international demand for babies from other countries is due, she added, to what appears to be a world-wide scarcity of babies, especially girls, the death of female infants being a condition inexplicably following every great war.

GEORGIA GAS TAX IS FIVE MILLION
State Tenth in Nation,
According to Announcement by Federal Bureau of Public Roads.

Only ten states of the union realized a greater revenue from the gasoline excise tax for highway improvement than Georgia in 1926, the federal bureau of public roads announced Friday.

Georgia collected a total of $5,531,140 from its 3.12-cent tax on gasoline last year.

Gasoline taxes yielded a net return of $187,603.231 from the various states, it was said. A tax was imposed in all but four states at rates ranging from 1 to 5 cents a gallon, the average rate being 2.38 cents.

London, April 2.—(Saturday)—(United News)—An emergency war council has been held at Shanghai between Marshal Chiang Kai-Shek and generals from Anhwei, Chekiang and Kiangsu provinces to formulate a plan for a coup d'etat, according to a dispatch from the Shanghai correspondent of the Daily Express.

Marshal Chiang is contemplating action which would expect all communist leaders from China, it is claimed. All factions in Shanghai are said to agree that the time is near when Chiang must emerge the leader of the nationalists or step aside to let the radical faction dominate the entire country.

Washington, April 1.—(United News.)—Rush orders from the navy department today started concentration of 1,500 additional marines at San Diego, Calif., ready for duty in China.

This troop movement is separate from the scheduled embarkation of 1,500 marines on the transport Henderson.

Although the troop concentration order was sent out by Secretary of the Navy, Wilbur at the request of Admiral Williams, American naval commander in Asiatic waters, President Coolidge's spokesman stated immediate dispatch of additional marines to China was not contemplated.

This was taken as an indication that the new contingent is being mobilized on the west coast as a precautionary measure.

Kellogg Defends Policy.
Secretary of State Kellogg defended the administration's Chinese policy in a statement to the United News answering criticism by Stirling F. Henderson, American chairman of the Shanghai Municipal council.

Kellogg refused to comment directly.

HUGE THROG HEARS EVANGELIST TROTTER

Mel Trotter, evangelist at the North Avenue Presbyterian church, continued his studies in the book of Romans Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock before an audience that packed the church.

"We have in this great book of Romans," he said, "the only permanent peace we know anything about. Listen to this: Therefore being justified by faith we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ. This is not the peace of heart and mind men find elsewhere in God's word, but the judicial peace between God and man. Why? Because, peace has been made. The law of God had been broken and man must be just when that law is broken. The penalty must be paid. Thank God it was paid by His own precious Son, who gave his life that I might be at peace with Him. And this all comes about by faith. Will this peace last? Will it work when the dark day comes? Yes, it will. Tribulation only strengthens my stand in grace. Therefore I rejoice in tribulation." The evangelist said.

"It's a great delight to know Him and then let the wind blow. A Christian never gets sour in tribulation, in fact he seldom becomes sweet without tribulation. I can walk down the streets and tell every person who has suffered. The suffering sinner is a crank and almost helpless, while the suffering saint has love, God's love, and sympathy for the fallen, for the outcast, even for the dumb brute. Jesus was made perfect through suffering, and a servant is no greater than his lord. 'Count it all joy, therefore, when God honors you enough to suffer with him. We shall reign with Him if we suffer with Him. Glorified suffering is the flower of sainthood.'"

Services continue through next week with three services Sunday, at 11 o'clock, 3:30 and 7:30 o'clock and at the same time a service especially for young people will be conducted by Homer Hammon and Howard Hermanson, of the evangelistic party.

Big Damage Suit Against Railroad On at Cartersville

Cartersville, Ga., April 1.—(Special.)—Mrs. Ola Hetzel, of Atlanta, is this week suing the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railway company for $15,000 for the death of her husband, William F. Hetzel, who died January 28, 1925, as a result of injuries received, it is claimed, when his engine was wrecked when it ran into a land-slide, at a point about one mile south of the Allatoona station.

The case, which is being tried in Barrow superior court before Judge Claude C. Pittman, started Tuesday afternoon and is expected to go to the jury late Saturday afternoon.

CASCADE METHODISTS OPEN WEEK'S SERVICES

Rev. W. H. Howard, professor at Emory university, and Rev. S. A. F. Wagner, pastor of the newly organized Cascade Methodist church, will be principal speakers at the opening services of the new church Sunday morning and night.

Rev. Howard will speak at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning, while Rev. Wagner will speak at 7:30 o'clock Sunday night. A special song service will be held just preceding both services.

Following opening services a series of special services will be held each night at 7:30 o'clock in observance of an opening week program.

Among the speakers during the week will be Judge John D. Humphries, of the Fulton superior court, Monday night when "Laymen's Night" will be observed. Tuesday night, will be "Epworth League Night," and officials of the Atlanta Epworth League union and the North Georgia conference will have charge of services.

"Women's Missionary Society Night" will be observed Wednesday night, and Miss Bessie Allen, of the Wesley Community House, and Mrs. J. N. McEachern, president of the Woman's Missionary society, of the North Georgia conference, will have charge.

A grand rally will be held Thursday night and Rev. Marvin Williams, pastor of Wesley Memorial church, will be the speaker.

A Sunday school night program will be given Friday night, to close the opening week program and Rev. W. G. Henry, professor of religious education at Emory university will be the principal speaker.

Tech Glee Club Concert Tonight To Close Season

With Governor and Mrs. Clifford Walker, Mayor and Mrs. J. N. Rutledge and other notables in attendance the Georgia Tech Glee and Mandolin club will present its final offering of the season in the Erlanger theater at 8:30 tonight.

The Tech Glee club has enjoyed one of its best seasons, officials announced, and the final presentation promises to be largely attended. During the year the club has appeared in many of the larger cities of Georgia and has been acclaimed everywhere.

In tonight's presentation, a number of new and novel features will be introduced, it was said. The board of directors of the institution will be present.

Oglethorpe Players Score Triumph in Four Plays

Uniting the poise and charm of expression of professional thespians with the well developed natural dramatic ability to the utter delight of a critical audience, the Oglethorpe Players registered a tremendous hit Friday night in the presentation of four original one-act plays at the Erlanger theater.

So well coached by Lewis Haase, dramatic director of the Players and manager of the Erlanger, were the students in all four of the productions that the entire program went off without a single hitch.

To single out any one of the characters for special applause in Friday night's bill would be a hard job, for every one performed his or her part. But it must be said in all fairness that if stellar honors were awarded, they should go to Fred Stewart, president of the Players club and director of the Play-Crafters of West End, who as the 104-year-old great-grandmother in "Such Gals," and the mild-mannered man in "The Mild Mannered Man With Two Wild Wives," the latter his own particular product, made a deep impression.

Written by Students. All four of the plays were written by Oglethorpe students, members of the class in drama, directed by Dr. James South. The Players, organized in 1916, began the writing of their own plays in 1921 with the organization of the class in drama. The plays given under the patronage of the Oglethorpe woman's board, of which Mrs. E. Rivers is president.

"Such Gals," a satire of Harvey South, Oglethorpe Junior, presented a study of an old lady 104 years of age, her 79 years. Through her love for a young man, she will be compelled with two fresh weeks a day to be of the pack a week allowed the Margie, great-granddaughter of Stonewall, won the old lady's approval for her marriage to Burns Randolph. Fred Stewart took the part of the querulous old woman with distinction, while Mary Harris made the adorable Margie. Charles Willis took the part of Burns with credit, and Theodore Hannicutt, as Jenny, the maid, and George Holloway, as Mr. Randolph, aged 79, were equally good.

The mother's method of reforming a modern flapper is shown in "Temporary Vamp," a romance by Earl Blackwell, sophomore and member of considerable experience himself. To this critic the work of Miss Madden as Effie, the maid, was perhaps the outstanding bit of theatrical work in the play, though full credit must be given Florence Roberts, as Christine, the mother, Martha Buchanan, as Claire, a friend; Nancy Strubling, as Boots, the daughter; Royal Terrell, as Oliver Shaw, the mother's old lover and Johnson Sutton, as Dick Keats, Boots's boy friend.

Idolene Lewman wrote a fascinating story of wild, oriental vengeance when she penned "The Greatest of These," a desert tragedy in which his jealous rage overtake Andre, a French officer, played admirably by Guy Woodford. Miss Lewman, who is a special student in literature at Oglethorpe, and who lived six months in Algeria, besides crossing the Sahara by caravan to Timbuktu, took the part of Andre's wife, with a fine understanding of the character. Madrye Chastain, as Lucille, her sister, William Tye, as Pierre, a friend, and Jacques, Paul's lover, played by Charles Willis, offered excellent support. Marion Goodman, as Kasim, an Arab servant, formed a striking addition to the cast, and Miss Robert Jester Harbour, of the Spiker Players, as Heradix, a dancer, daughter of Kasim, could not have been better selected for the part.

The final play of the series, "The Mild Mannered Man With Two Wild Wives," by Fred Stewart, was one of the best pieces of play writing it has been this observer's privilege to see. The lines are absolutely rich, the absurdity of Van, the mild-mannered man, played by Fred Stewart, giving rise to some unique situations. Good work was done by the cast, which included Royal Terrell, as Douglas, a friend; Eugenia Buchanan, as Camille, one wife; Mildred Brannen, as Bertha, the other wife; Paul Madden, as Meadows, the butler; Madrye Chastain, as Justin, Van's fiancée and Emily Busha, as Mrs. King. Charles Willis assisted in the writing of this play.

The Oglethorpe student orchestra entertained between acts with popular music.

Decatur Welfare Work. Bainbridge, Ga., April 1.—(Special.)—The Decatur county executive board of welfare work for Georgia's homeless children is planning for its membership campaign on April 11-13. B. F. Lewis is president; Israel Kahn, vice president and Ellington Willis, secretary-treasurer.

Hailstorm Does $10,000 Damage In Anderson, S. C.

Spartanburg, S. C., April 1.—(AP)—A freakish hailstorm that skipped and jumped over the Piedmont section of the state late this afternoon caused damage running into the thousands, according to reports received by the Spartanburg Herald tonight.

The Laurens county schools' field day exercises were in progress at that place and automobiles of the onlookers lost tops and windshields. One hundred and thirty-seven windows were broken in the Laurens high school gymnasium and other downtown stores. A plate glass window in the Laurens high school was shattered and many private homes are short their quota of windows today. The hail broke a large skylight over a drug store and then proceeded to play havoc among the bottled medicines.

A number of persons in Laurens and Clinton were reported badly bruised by the ice pellets. At Anderson damage estimated at $10,000 was done in the Gluck Mill village, where over 3,000 windows were broken in the mill building. The heaviest damage was at Clinton, where it is estimated losses will total $15,000.

MANY HOUSES UNROOFT BY STORM IN DURHAM

Durham, N. C., April 1.—(AP)—Many houses were unroofed, garages toppled over, trees blown down and other damage done here late this afternoon in a wind storm of cyclonic dimensions, which lasted for several minutes and swept a crooked path through the western section of the city. Descending with a roar, the funnel shaped winds did damage amounting to thousands of dollars and played many tricks on the buildings which it singled out from the large area over which it passed before its fury was spent.

No serious injuries resulted from the storm, which was unaccompanied by rain, but one woman was struck by a piece of flying timber when she ran frightened from her home. The heaviest damage occurred at the station of the Southern Public Utilities company, the building being demolished. The roof of the brick structure was blown away, causing the walls to fall. Eight men were in the

DRY AGENTS HELD ON MURDER COUNT

Valdosta, Ga., April 1.—(AP)—R. L. Hudson and son, R. L. Hudson, Jr., federal prohibition agents, were held on charges of murder at a commitment trial here today in connection with the death this week of Lawton Carroll, who was wounded March 7, when the officers, searching for liquor runners, fired on his automobile.

Evidence was introduced to show that the federal agents shot at the tires of Carroll's machine, the elder Hudson firing twice and the younger three times. They introduced a number of witnesses in an effort to show that Carroll was having whisky at the time.

N. V. Hall, who was arrested with Hudson and his son, was released on order of Judge J. G. Crawford, who held there was no evidence to connect him with the shooting.

FRENCH TO REPLY TO ARMS BID TODAY

Paris, April 1.—(United Press).—The French reply to President Coolidge's memorandum urging reconsideration of the refusal of France and Italy, the United States government urged reconsideration of the refusal. France at first considered sending an official observer to the conference, which will be held in Geneva, but later her ministers were said to favor continued refusal to participate even to that extent.

Following acceptance by Great Britain and Japan of the Coolidge invitation for a naval disarmament conference and refusal of France and Italy, the United States government urged reconsideration of the refusal. France at first considered sending an official observer to the conference, which will be held in Geneva, but later her ministers were said to favor continued refusal to participate even to that extent.

POLITICAL PATRON OF WILSON DIES IN NEW JERSEY

Newark, N. J., April 1.—(AP)—Former United States Senator James Smith, 76, died at his home here tonight.

Mr. Smith has been suffering from the infirmities of his age since the first of the year. His four sons and two daughters were at the bedside when he died. He served in the United States senate from 1893 to 1899. Smith is remembered as the man who introduced into the United States politics through his nomination of Mr. Wilson for governor of New Jersey in 1910.

TWO SACRIFICE LIVES IN MINE RESCUE EFFORT

Morgantown, W. Va., April 1.—(AP)—Two mine rescue men sacrificed their lives late today in a fruitless effort to save a fellow rescuer from death by gas in the Connellsville by-product mine here. The three victims were members of a crew from Parnassus, Pa., and were summoned to take part in the reopening of the mine, which had been sealed for two months because of fire in the workings.

WISHES OF SON MAY RECONCILE TINNEY AND WIFE

Hollywood, Calif., April 1.—Reconciliation between Frank Tinney, junior, of the stage, and his estranged wife, Edna Davenport Tinney, now appears likely.

Mrs. Tinney, with her son, Frank, Jr., will soon return to New York. "There's a chance that we may go back together," Mrs. Tinney admitted. "Our boy wants him and now that he's through with the other woman, he's home." The other woman is Imogene Wilson.

WORLD WAR HERO RETAINS POWER OVER INSTITUTE

Nashville, Tenn., April 1.—(AP)—Governor Peay today signed a bill giving the control of the World War Industrial Institute in Fentress county to a board composed of Alvin York, World War hero, and the state board of education. The legislation ends a long controversy.

Miss Martha Harris To Wed Hitchcock, Former U. S. Senator

New York, March 31.—(AP)—The engagement of Miss Martha Harris, of Memphis, Tenn., to Gilbert M. Hitchcock, former United States senator from Nebraska, was announced here tonight by Miss Harris' aunt, Mrs. J. T. Harahan, of Chicago.

ARCTIC SILENCE HIDING WILKINS

BY A. M. SMITH Special Correspondent of The Atlanta Constitution, The Chicago Tribune and The New York Times. Copyright, 1927, by The North American Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved. Reproduction in whole or in part prohibited.

New York, April 1.—The plans of Captain George H. Wilkins and his pilot, Ben Eielson, for rescuing themselves from the arctic ice 100 miles northeast of Point Barrow, still are unknown, though nearly two days have passed since a message was received from them saying that their plane had been forced down by engine trouble.

The latest message from Point Barrow, received last night, stated that the explorers had not been able to get the signals of their light, short wave set through since 6:30 p. m. Wednesday (11:30 p. m. Eastern time). Light weather disturbances, accompanied by static, still persist about Barrow.

Wilkins and Eielson took off at 6:03 a. m. (11:03 a. m. Eastern time) Tuesday morning, to search for land in the unexplored arctic. They carried 15 hours' supply of gas. Two hours out they signalled "all well," but after that nothing was heard from them until 4 p. m. Wednesday. 30 hours later, when a brief message came through saying that they were well, but had been forced down by engine trouble, presumably on their return trip from the unexplored regions.

Two hours later the message was repeated, and nothing further had been heard from them when the Barrow base last communicated with Fairbanks last night.

HOME SECRETARY STOPS EXECUTION OF DOOMED MAN

Copyright, 1927, for The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune. London, April 1.—An unprecedented step in British legal history was taken today when the home secretary stopped the execution of William Knighton, 22, a miner, which was set for next Thursday, and ordered a new hearing before the court of criminal appeal.

Knighton was condemned to death by the last assizes for murdering his mother. The court of criminal appeal itself dismissed the appeal from the sentence, a week ago, but was persuaded by attorneys that the home office that they had new evidence based on doctors' statements which would show that the condemned man was innocent. The statements show that Knighton, having been subject to epilepsy, might have killed his mother automatically, and on this point the new defense will rest.

CHICAGO ORCHESTRA MAY BE DISBANDED

Chicago, Ill., April 1.—Due to a dispute with the federation of musicians, the famous Chicago Symphony orchestra may be forced to disband. Under the union rules the orchestra management has been required to dismiss all players, but it is hoped to renege most of them next season.

The minimum salary of the players is $50 a week, which is $10 a week higher than salaries paid in New York and Philadelphia. This rate was fixed by the orchestra association and the musicians' union.

The union has a hard and fast rule that the association must give four weeks' notice to any player it does not intend to renege for the next year. There also is a stipulation that the association must settle any matters with the union before taking them up with the individual players.

Three weeks ago the association notified the union that it was ready to negotiate the next year, but the union was "bussy" and kept putting the matter off until the time limit was reached, when unless the players were notified they would not be wanted, they would automatically be re-engaged for another season. Consequently the association was forced to dismiss all the players. The association had a deficit of $15,000 last year. The players did not ask for increased salaries in view of the fact that they were getting all the receipts, but the union contemplated demands for more money, despite the deficit.

Forgery of Will Of Father Laid To New York Man

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.) New York, April 1.—Isidor Wertheimer, member of the firm of Wertheimer & Sons, wholesale spice dealers, was held in $10,000 bail on a charge of forging a will disposing of his father's $500,000 estate when he was arraigned in Tombs court this morning. Wertheimer pleaded not guilty and hearing was set for April 5.

Wertheimer was arrested today on a short affidavit sworn to by police headquarters detectives on a complaint by Warren C. Fielding, an attorney, who is special guardian for Jerome and Eleanor Thomas, minor children of Wertheimer's dead sister.

According to the complaint, Isaac Wertheimer, father of the accused man, died last December 17 without leaving a will. Some time later, it continues, Isidor Wertheimer found an unsigned will leaving the major portion of the estate to him and his wife or a daughter of the elder Wertheimer's. He is alleged to have induced three witnesses to sign the will without knowing what it was. He then forged his dead father's signature, the charge asserts.

The will cuts off the Thomas children with only $100 each.

The elder Wertheimer's estate would have been divided into four equal portions under the law for the inheritance of the property of persons who die intestate. One-quarter would have gone to Isidor Wertheimer, one to his brother, one to a sister who is still living, and one to the Thomas children, as heirs of the dead sister.

The estate of Isaac Wertheimer has not been appraised yet, but Fielding estimated that it was worth between $250,000 and $500,000. The detectives who have been investigating for the past two weeks declared it was close to the latter figure.

TO SET UP SUPER-PRESIDENCY.

Taking technical advantage of a senate resolution adopted in 1921 which provides that the regular committees may "continue and have power to act until their successors are appointed," it was reported several days ago that Senator Borah, chairman of the foreign relations committee, "is expected" to call his committee to Washington and during the congressional adjournment maintain what would be in effect a super-presidency to deal with foreign affairs, especially with the acute Mexican, Nicaraguan and Chinese situations.

Since no further step in that direction has been taken, it is to be hoped that the senator has abandoned the idea.

That such a course, if taken, would not only be revolutionary in challenging the functions of the state department, which alone is responsible for foreign negotiations, but would seriously embarrass the handling of these most delicate situations through diplomacy, and thereby encourage more desperate measures, is obvious to anyone. It must be obvious to Senator Borah himself, but his apparently unfriendly attitude toward the administration, and his recent pre-adjournment clash over his independent negotiations with the president of Mexico, has possibly permitted his judgment to become alarmingly and dangerously biased.

The committee has two vacancies to begin with—that of former Senators Pepper and Langroot. It would be without funds to carry on its work, as all clerical help terminates with a session of congress except in cases of special committees particularly charged to do vacation work.

The resolution in question was adopted to permit of committee readjustments and reassignments following the close of the newly republican controlled congress, following the 1920 elections. It was not intended to be used as a means for uprooting the whole machinery of government and the setting up of a new foreign office.

These are delicate times, requiring only diplomatic treatment, as there is no direct offensive against America anywhere. This nation is involved in protecting life and property rights of nationals in involved territories. Therefore, while it may be necessary to do so with arms, as is the case now in China, it is easy to see that a misdirected spark may start an unquenchable conflagration without resorting to actual war.

Senator Borah perhaps meant well but should he carry out his announced determination to set up this super-government, in defiance of constitutional rights, and contrary to anything of the kind in the history of the republic, the result would be harmful.

The fathers of the republic intended the senate to have three and only three functions—that of advising to the president in treaty making, in executive appointments, and as an arresting and balancing influence in legislation. It has nothing to do with diplomacy, nothing to do with foreign affairs, per se, except in making treaties. Other entanglements are handled entirely by the executive and his department of state.

Surely Senator Borah will not permit personal prejudices to hazard the peace and prosperity of the nation.

THE ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE.

The Anti-Saloon league, according to its own figures, has collected from the people during the past six years of prohibition enforcement $13,000,000. And it has expended that much.

These collections have been made chiefly from poor people who have, under the influence of emotional addresses, pledged themselves to pay monthly installments over a long period.

For what? "According to its own statement 'for education and political campaigns.'" An advertisement for the Anti-Saloon league is a masterpiece of emotionalism.

mission that it is participating in the election of certain people and in the defeat of others.

It was unnecessary to make the admission. Investigations have proven its "interference" in the politics of several states, and of having spent hundreds of thousands of dollars to elect a single candidate. The Pennsylvania investigations showed that. Therefore, while a semi-religious organization, it is admittedly engaged in and is encouraging primary corruption.

Did any person ever hear of a dollar being spent to elect a democrat in any state?

When one of its chief exponents was running for reelection to congress in Georgia it did not spend one dollar to aid him.

It collected $60,000 out of Georgia it admits—all in six years. It spent $60,000 in Georgia it admits. How and with whom, and for what program? Can any person find a penny spent except in salaries? And in the assessments of the national organization?

The whole institution is a gigantic political structure, kept together by the astounding boldness, and genius, of one man.

It has no legal place in the government's activities. And the government is charged with prohibition enforcement. It is making a sorry job of it, but the Anti-Saloon league hasn't helped any. Although in addition to the federal tax burden the Anti-Saloon league imposes another burden of more than $2,000,000 a year.

RECLAMATION PLANS.

The official report of the special advisers on reclamation and rural development on their investigations as to proposed group settlements in the southern states has just been issued by the secretary of interior.

It is a strong and comprehensive presentation of the agricultural opportunities and needs in the southern states, citing the favorable conditions for country life, the possibilities of making farm life not only prosperous but socially inviting, and the possibilities for adequate market expansions.

The board of advisers has selected large tracts of farm lands in six southern states, including one tract in the vicinity of Albany in Georgia. Congress appropriated a fund for surveying and developing the plan of settlement of each tract, with the view of offering "ready-to-go" farms to acceptable farmers from other states on a long-time basis of amortization.

In discussing the plans, altruistic as well as economic as they are, the board found a new meaning of reclamation. It says in this connection:

"Heretofore reclamation in the United States has been conceived as an undertaking merely in civil engineering to put water on dry lands or remove water from swamp land. The nature of settlement and the success of the settlers were not properly considered. It is now felt that land which has been reclaimed in the engineering sense has not been reclaimed for human uses unless there exist upon it happy, prosperous people. Without them, water charges can not be paid, irrigation will cease, drainage canals will fill up. Obviously, reclamation is a human as well as an engineering problem. The main object of reclamation therefore must be to establish farming communities with a fair chance of success; engineering works and all other technical aid must be directed to this end."

Secretary Work is to be warmly commended for taking the initiative in this great and important work. The people of the south should lend him, and the board—all outstanding men of wide experience and great usefulness—every encouragement.

While they are making improvements in the senate hall allow us to suggest a permanent boxing platform.

That such a course, if taken, would not only be revolutionary in challenging the functions of the state department, which alone is responsible for foreign negotiations, but would seriously embarrass the handling of these most delicate situations through diplomacy, and thereby encourage more desperate measures, is obvious to anyone. It must be obvious to Senator Borah himself, but his apparently unfriendly attitude toward the administration, and his recent pre-adjournment clash over his independent negotiations with the president of Mexico, has possibly permitted his judgment to become alarmingly and dangerously biased.

The committee has two vacancies to begin with—that of former Senators Pepper and Langroot. It would be without funds to carry on its work, as all clerical help terminates with a session of congress except in cases of special committees particularly charged to do vacation work.

The resolution in question was adopted to permit of committee readjustments and reassignments following the close of the newly republican controlled congress, following the 1920 elections. It was not intended to be used as a means for uprooting the whole machinery of government and the setting up of a new foreign office.

These are delicate times, requiring only diplomatic treatment, as there is no direct offensive against America anywhere. This nation is involved in protecting life and property rights of nationals in involved territories. Therefore, while it may be necessary to do so with arms, as is the case now in China, it is easy to see that a misdirected spark may start an unquenchable conflagration without resorting to actual war.

Senator Borah perhaps meant well but should he carry out his announced determination to set up this super-government, in defiance of constitutional rights, and contrary to anything of the kind in the history of the republic, the result would be harmful.

The fathers of the republic intended the senate to have three and only three functions—that of advising to the president in treaty making, in executive appointments, and as an arresting and balancing influence in legislation. It has nothing to do with diplomacy, nothing to do with foreign affairs, per se, except in making treaties. Other entanglements are handled entirely by the executive and his department of state.

Surely Senator Borah will not permit personal prejudices to hazard the peace and prosperity of the nation.

TO SET UP SUPER-PRESIDENCY.

Taking technical advantage of a senate resolution adopted in 1921 which provides that the regular committees may "continue and have power to act until their successors are appointed," it was reported several days ago that Senator Borah, chairman of the foreign relations committee, "is expected" to call his committee to Washington and during the congressional adjournment maintain what would be in effect a super-presidency to deal with foreign affairs, especially with the acute Mexican, Nicaraguan and Chinese situations.

Since no further step in that direction has been taken, it is to be hoped that the senator has abandoned the idea.

Stanton Radio Programs Heard by Millions Friday

Millions of people of the United States and Canada, among the former hundreds of former Atlantans, listened in on the 60 radio broadcasting stations scattered throughout the country Friday night during the presentation of Frank L. Stanton programs. Stanton, who died last week, was the first time the late Georgia poet laureate's published works, which were distributed for the first time Friday.

ATLANTA BANKERS FACE 10 CHARGES

Statement to The Constitution following the indictment, he said: "There is absolutely no grounds for the indictment, and I am not guilty of any of the charges contained in the indictment. All I ask is that the public withhold its opinion until I have had an opportunity to clear myself. The statement that the assets of the bank were grossly at error, $500,000 is grossly at error. At the time the company was turned over to the state banking department, the auditing firm of Ernst & Young submitted an accounting which showed the total assets to be $1,160,000, and this will be proved at the right time."

Four indictments were returned against the bank officers following return of the indictments for their appearance in Fulton superior court to stand trial. Bonds were immediately issued and turned over to Sheriff James L. Lowry's deputies. No arrests had been made last Friday night.

No trial date has been set, but sides of Solicitor General John A. Baskin declared Friday that the state was prepared to present a case and that a speedy trial will be sought.

Two indictments charged embezzlement of a first floor and Norman, it being alleged that Norman issued a check in favor of Mrs. A. P. McGhee, dated January 26, 1923, which was drawn on the Fulton National bank on the last count of the indictment, which check Mrs. McGhee received no benefit and for which payment the trust company received no security, and that the money was misappropriated by the accused. The second bill makes the same allegation, the checks, however, being issued in favor of Mrs. Maude Williams.

Personal application of $1,500 of the bank's funds, part of a loan of $1,500 made by the bank, is charged in a felony indictment, which also alleges false entry on the books August 30, 1923.

The second count of the felony charges alleges that officials marked the loan on the books as a loan to G. C. Long, without authority of the board of trustees.

ON FACE AND BACK

Skin now clear and smooth

Doubs, Md., July 13:—"Three or four years ago, my face and back broke out with pimples and blackheads. When I picked or pressed them they would get very sore and burn. I used several kinds of cold cream, but none of them helped a bit. Then I happened to see your advertisement and thought I would try Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. Within a few weeks I had not a pimple or blackhead at all and now my face is nice and smooth. I have also found Resinol Soap very refreshing after coming in from the sun or wind." (Signed) Miss Elsie E. Painter.

If you are troubled with a rough, pimply skin, ask your druggist today for Resinol Soap and Ointment, and see what an improvement a week's use will make.

FREE—Sample of each of these products if you will write Dept. 62, Baltimore, Md.—(adv.)

COME TO CLOSE

Washington, April 1.—(AP)—Concluding four days of public hearings at which scores of representatives of radio interests appeared, the federal radio commission tonight took undivided attention to a voluminous record of testimony out of which it hopes to bring a semblance of order to the present chaotic radio situation.

A multitude of proposals to remedy the congestion resulting from 732 stations using 95 available wave lengths was offered and these the commission is at liberty to use in reaching a starting point for licensing stations after April 24, when the 60-day respite allowed by law expires.

Out of the mass of suggestions came several large scale plans which, if adopted, would revolutionize present broadcasting by wholesale reduction of the number of stations; almost general opposition to revision of the present broadcast band or other physical changes on the grounds that existing equipment would have to be scrapped and less drastic formulae for numerical curtailment of stations.

While no announcement was made by the commission, the prevailing opinion among the radio engineers was that the control body would not adopt any station reduction plan for general application to the country as a whole, but rather would attempt to solve the problem in a gradual manner by eliminating only those stations which from time to time are proven useless from a public service standpoint.

The proposal put forward today and which is expected to have some weight with the commission was that of S. R. Davis, solicitor of the commerce department, who is considered an expert on radio matters. He proposed that the commission consider each application for a license on its merits from a public service standpoint, classifying them by wave lengths desired, and go down the line for all available wave lengths, which would make possible at least a tentative ruling as to broadcast stations.

SENATOR BORAH LEADS WEALTHY COUZENS DOLLAR

My Leased Wife in The Constitution and Washington, D. C., April 1.—Senator James Borah, republican, of Michigan, is credited with a fortune of $400,000, and is the wealthiest of his kind in the United States.

Senator Borah, on his way from his estate of building at the capitol this noon, met Senator Couzens, obviously much perturbed.

"Please lend me a dollar," pleaded Senator Couzens, "I am in a tight place."

"I was one of the proudest moments in my life when I was able to lend money to a multi-millionaire," said Senator Borah, telling the story a few minutes later.

TWO NEGROES HELD AS CHICKEN THIEVES

Police believe they have ended an epidemic of chicken stealing with the arrest of Friday night. Holmes, 16, of 177 East Cain street, and John Smith, 18, same address, both negroes.

Following the theft of several potential broilers from N. A. Ansley, 403 North Boulevard, Call Officers Eugene Head, George F. Barrett and W. J. Anderson, apprehended Holmes and Smith on Boulevard with a heavy sack between them. The negroes fled at the approach of the officers and were fired upon. A projectile striking Holmes on the left hand, inflicting a minor wound. Instantly the fleeing pair came to a halt and were captured.

In the sack were found five chickens.

MARIE HOLDS STAGE AS KING NEARS DEATH

Paris, April 1.—(United News).—The effervescent Queen Marie of Rumania is again a leading subject of conversation with Paris diplomats, due to reports of King Ferdinand's grave illness.

Diplomats are wondering whether the queen would become the unofficial queen of the Balkans as well as the mother-in-law of the Balkans, a position she now holds, in event of her husband's death.

Ferdinand is generally regarded as a check on Marie's diplomatic complex. His death would leave her, at 51, ambitious, and in reality the ruler of Rumania whether the regency for her infant grandson, Prince Michael, held or the banished Prince Carol himself returned to rule.

At any rate Marie will be in a position to exert a great though indirect influence on Balkan politics through her daughters.

Queen Marie of Yugoslavia, already occupies a powerful position. There also is a possibility that another daughter of the queen, the ex-queen of Greece, may some day be returned to the throne of that country along with her husband. In addition, Queen Marie still has in Princess Ileana another unmarried daughter. Thus an important diplomatic marriage may be planned which would give Marie another hold on European affairs.

Certainly King Ferdinand's death would mean months of watchful waiting on the part of European diplomats who would be desirous of knowing whether and in what direction Marie might be expected to turn.

ELEVENTH WARD CLUB SUGGESTS CANDIDATE

Members of the Eleventh Ward Improvement club held a meeting at their clubhouse on Avenue Fifteen Friday night to elect a councilman candidate to succeed Leo Suddeth, the present representative, who is not going to offer for reelection.

A resolution was unanimously adopted at the meeting recommending that Colonel Homer H. Benton enter the coming race. Colonel Benton declined to say whether he would accept the endorsement, withholding final decision for several days, it was said.

Slightly Cooler Spring Weather Seen for Today

Fine spring weather, with moderately cool temperatures is predicted for today by C. F. von Herrmann, local meteorologist. Temperatures are expected to range between 55 and 70 degrees.

The mercury Friday ranged from 65 to 75 during the early hours of the afternoon.

With the March weather reports completed, Mr. von Herrmann stated that another month of abnormal mean temperatures had officially been recorded, making it a record.

The mean temperature for March was 55 degrees, three degrees above normal. December was the first month that recorded abnormal temperatures.

January, February and March. Mean wind velocity was 12.6 miles an hour and a northwesterly direction of the wind prevailed.

There were eight clear days, six cloudy and unsettled weather during the month just ended. Total rainfall for the month was 3.31 inches, slightly below normal.

The lowest temperature recorded for the month was 25 degrees on March 3 and the highest was 80 degrees on March 19, neither of which were unusual, he stated.

The coldest spell of the month was during the first few days and the month in general was warm and dry and for the most part very pleasant, the weather being unusually so.

PUBLIC SAFETY EXPERTS' AUTO KILLS GIRL, 15

Chicago, April 1.—(United News).—Alma Wells, 15, a high school student, killed Friday by the automobile of Parker Sercombe as he was on his way to deliver a lecture on "Public Safety."

The automobile struck her as she was crossing the street. Sercombe took her to a hospital where she died.

Sercombe, formerly employed in the corner's office and at one time was a statistician for the board of education. He is considered an authority on "public safety."

PLAN NEGRO OUTING AT LAKEWOOD PARK

Representatives from colored schools, churches, fraternal societies and other agencies in the Atlanta Charity and Educational association, met Friday afternoon at the Wheat Street school to discuss plans for the 1927 outing, to be held June 6 at Lakewood, Southeastern Fairgrounds.

The Rev. P. J. Bryant, at whose call the meeting was held, presided, assisted by the Rev. E. P. Johnson and the Rev. H. E. Travis. Reports from the president, secretary and treasurer were read and approved.

An audit of books and accounts of the last outing was authorized. A committee was also appointed to consider revision of the organization's constitution and by-laws.

The Southeastern Fair officials have given every assurance of cooperation for the coming outing, which is an annual affair, being held within the grounds of the fair, Monday of each June. E. L. Collier, chairman of the publicity committee, announced that he will put on an intensive advertising campaign along the lines which were successful last year.

Officers were elected as follows: Rev. P. J. Bryant, president; Rev. W. J. Anderson, secretary; Rev. H. E. Travis, treasurer; Dr. W. E. Roodie, financial secretary, together with a number of assistants.

FOUR FAMILIES FLEE FROM BURNING HOME

Four families were forced to make a hasty exit from their homes early Friday morning when an apartment building on the Westside was caught fire and destroyed practically all of the belongings of its occupants, according to fire reports. The structure was considerably damaged by the fire, it was reported.

The families who occupied the building were: F. D. Sawyer, D. A. Akin, H. O. Arron and H. C. Bell.

The building was owned by H. H. Turner and was lost to the insurance company for $5,000, which was covered by insurance.

To Those Who Suffer Stomach Distress, Gas and Indigestion

Jacobs' Pharmacy Makes This Offer

Money Back If One Bottle of Dare's Mentha Pepsin Doesn't Do You More Good Than Anything You Ever Used.

The way has been found to combine Pepsin with other corrective stomach agents so that it will do the most good in the shortest possible time.

Why bother with slow actors, since one tablespoonful of this splendid and pleasant liquid remedy usually cures gas, bloating, heaviness, heartburn or that upset condition of the stomach, when due to excesses or faulty elimination to speedily vanish.

And why should any man or woman suffer another hour with indigestion or annoying stomach misery from such causes when the remedy that acts almost instantly can be so easily procured?

But there is more to say about this remedy—namely—something that will interest thousands of despondent people.

Dare's Mentha Pepsin not only quickly relieves stomach distress of this sort but is compounded to conquer stubborn indigestion or dyspepsia and put an end to dizziness, nervousness, headache, sleeplessness and despondency, when these distressing troubles are caused by stomach disturbance of the kind mentioned.

Dare's Mentha Pepsin is pleasant to take, has a delightfully refreshing taste and after it has helped to put your stomach in a clean and healthy condition, just notice how much better you look and feel, for besides correcting stomach disorders caused by excesses or faulty elimination this extremely good remedy that Jacobs' Pharmacy and druggists everywhere guarantee is a fine relaxing drink that causes you to work with vim, eat with relish and sleep soundly.—(adv.)

GUINOT FATAL TO TUCKER BOY

Decatur, Ga., April 1.—(Special).—That he came to his death from gunshot wounds either intentionally or accidentally was the verdict returned by a coroner's jury probing the death of J. W. Butler, 15-year-old youth, whose body was found in front of his home at Tucker about 7:30 o'clock Thursday night last.

The family after hearing a report of a gun.

Young Butler, according to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. N. Butler, was a bright, cheerful boy, 15 years old and had been despondent, being out of work. He told his parents last night after eating supper that he was "going out for a walk" and a few minutes later, they said, reports of a gun were heard and when they rushed to the front of the home they found the body of the son with his head blown practically off.

It appeared, they said, that the youth was seated on the running board of his car when the shot was fired. A single-barreled gun was used, one shot being fired.

Coroner J. H. Thomas of DeKalb county was summoned at once and a jury convened, the verdict being that the youth "came to his death from a wound caused by a gun which he fired, the shot being either accidental or intentional."

Besides his parents Butler is supported by a sister, a prominent farmer of Tucker.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Rehecho Baptist church at Tucker, with interment in the Tucker cemetery. A. S. Turner, undertaker, in charge.

The destroyer Pillsbury, on its way to Tsingtao, Shantung province, and the cruiser Asheville has been ordered to Tientsin, used in the Boxer uprising of 1900 as a base for the foreign expeditionary force.

The United States government is taking necessary steps to protect lives and property of Americans in China. Exaggerated reports of American naval and marine forces have been supplied to the extent considered necessary by Admiral Williams.

There have been no orders issued for evacuation of Shanghai.

"American diplomatic and military representatives in making representations fully with other foreign representatives when faced with a joint problem such as protection of the lives and property of Americans in Shanghai."

White House Silent.

The white house refused to comment on the American policy in China explaining that some of the president's views had been distorted in newspapers in Shanghai.

Apparently the president feels that some of the criticism of Americans in Shanghai is due to a misunderstanding of his attitude.

Following a cabinet discussion, the administration was still undecided whether to act alone or join with other powers in making representations to the Chinese, demanding future protection for foreign lives and property.

It is believed instructions to American Minister MacMurray at Peking will be delayed for several days unless an emergency arises.

The navy marine contingent will be sent to the Fourth regiment, and will be held at San Diego "for whatever may develop." Secretary Wilbur said in commenting upon the concentration of the force.

No additional orders are contemplated at the present time, he declared.

The greater portion of the 1,500 marines will be drawn from the Quantico, Va., base, with others taken from posts in the southeastern section of this country.

Colonel Davis in Charge.

Colonel H. C. Davis will be in charge of the regiment. It will consist of 74 officers, three warrant officers and 1,456 men.

The detachments are scheduled to entrain next Wednesday for San Diego.

Included in the Quantico contingent will be three tanks, two batteries of artillery and a company of engineers.

In a dispatch to the navy department, Admiral Hough, commander of the Yangtze river patrol, reported the situation in Chungking as "growing worse."

The American consulate has been closed and the consuls taken aboard the U. S. S. Monocacy.

Hankow conditions are still critical. Consul General Lockhart reported. Banks, newspapers and business houses are closed with no immediate prospect of improvement, he said.

Forty American refugees are scheduled to leave immediately from Hankow to Shanghai. Twelve left on March 31, Lockhart stated.

BRITAIN IS PREPARED TO PLAY LONGBAND

London, April 1.—(AP)—Great Britain is prepared to play a lone and strong hand, if necessary, in settling the Nanking affair.

A note to the Cantonese authorities stating the British demand was approved by the cabinet today and is to be forwarded to the Chinese government in the hope it will agree to make the protest jointly, otherwise Great Britain will act alone.

It is understood the final draft of the note demands reparations for the victims of the Nanking outrages, and their families, punishment of the perpetrators, and apologies to the governments whose consulates were looted and whose officials were attacked.

The cabinet also considered that action to take in the event of rejection of the British demand by the Cantonese. On this question, however,

ST. MARYS BRIDGE FORMALLY OPENED

BY KENNETH ROGERS.

Bruswick, Ga., April 1.—The official opening of the state-line bridge between Florida and Georgia at the St. Marys river was celebrated today at Kingsland, Ga., that little city entertaining several thousand visitors with a barbecue and other features.

Motorcades from Jacksonville, Fernandina, Brunswick, Darien, Savannah, with scattered cars from the surrounding villages and rural sections, filled Kingsland to overflowing and an automobile const. shortly after noon showed more than 1,200 cars parked on the streets and in the squares set aside for that purpose.

The celebration was proposed by Kingsland as the nearest town to the bridge, and despite its small population, the large crowd was handled and fed in good shape.

The exercises were opened with an invocation by Rev. C. A. Morrison, pastor of the Methodist church, and Fred G. Ward, secretary of the Atlantic Coastal Highway association, introduced Frank O. Miller, president of the Brunswick Automobile club, who acted as master of ceremonies.

Emmett McElreath, mayor of Kingsland, welcomed the visitors and the response was made by H. F. Maule, president of the Brunswick Board of Trade.

Addresses were delivered by Dr. Fous A. Hathaway, chairman of the Florida state road department, Tallahassee; John N. Holder, chairman of the Georgia highway commission; Judge H. B. Phillips, South Jacksonville, Fla., former chairman of the Florida board under whose administration the project was launched; Harvey Grainger, chairman of the Coastal highway commissioners and proponent of the zoning plan under which the project is being brought to completion; and John T. Alsop, mayor of Jacksonville.

The exercises were held in a beautiful grove in the edge of the village. The Ritz Theater orchestra of Brunswick furnished music for the occasion and the Girl Scout troop of Fernandina, which is a county organization, sang a song of the bridge.

Traffic officers from Glynn and Nassau counties kept the large crowd in safety throughout the day. The bridge across the St. Marys as a concrete and steel structure designed by and built under the supervision of the Florida state road department. The bridge is 586 feet in length with a steel draw span of 205 feet. It cost $224,000, and the contractors were the Pensacola Shipbuilding company, A. Bentley & Sons company, and the Virginia Bridge and Iron company.

H. H. Hocking, a resident engineer in charge of construction for the state department. An unusual feature of the bridge is the lounge provided for the occupants of the bridge tender. It is a neat cottage with all modern facilities for comfort.

Georgia will build or put under construction this year 870 miles of roads. John N. Holder declared in his address at the formal opening of the interstate bridge spanning the St.

BIRD DOG ON VISIT TO CITY ESCAPES; MANY JOIN SEARCH

"Has anybody seen Kate?" has been a question that nationally-circulated question, "How old is Ann?" so far as Atlanta is concerned.

Kate is a bird dog owned by W. D. McMichael, residing on the Chattahoochee river, Thursday, McMichael's son, a barber in a South Pryor street barber shop, brought Kate in to see the city.

Unfortunately, he left the shop door open and Kate launched a sightseeing tour of her own. Hence the barber-shop blue.

City officials, many of whom have hunted with Kate, issued an S.O.S. Friday. The dog is black, with spotted feet and chest.

VETERANS GET U. D. C. MEDALS

W. S. Coleman and W. M. Camp, commander of the Old Guard, were principal speakers Friday afternoon at the Confederate Veterans' soldiers' home, at an informal reception, when every Confederate veteran in the home was decorated with a gold medal by members of the Fulton county chapter of the U. D. C.

Mrs. C. L. Anderson, president of the Fulton chapter, had charge of the ceremonies. Members of the chapter assisted.

Practically every member of the Old Guard was present and several of their number gave short talks to the veterans.

Every inmate of the soldiers' home will have his name signed on the Stone Mountain Memorial association memory book and they will be placed along with other famous names for safe keeping in the association's memorial movement.

Desire for Clothes

Blamed for Thefts At Atlanta Stores

Pleading guilty Thursday in three cases charging shoplifting, Mrs. Marion O'Neal was sentenced to serve one year in each case, the sentences to be served one following the other at the state prison farm in Milledgeville, by Judge Jesse M. Wood in the criminal court of Atlanta.

She told Judge Wood that she did not have the money to buy expensive clothing and that the desire to become neatly dressed gradually grew upon her as she continued to look at the attractively decorated windows in Atlanta department stores.

Platinum Bracelet Lost During Thursday

By Mrs. Oberdorfer

Mrs. Eugene Oberdorfer, Jr., of 500 Linwood avenue, reported to detectives Friday morning the loss of a platinum bracelet, set with diamonds. She stated that the bracelet was lost some time Thursday night. She did not give any valuation of the article to detectives.

For the second time within a week, the home of Mrs. L. E. Weeks, at 213 Washington street, has been entered and ransacked by burglars, according to police reports. Mrs. Weeks reported Friday that her home was entered before dawn, without her hearing the intruder, and a quantity of clothing was missing.

TURNER IS VICTIM OF 2 WHITE BANDITS

J. M. Turner, of 725 Cooper street, was held up and robbed of $40 by two young white men early Friday morning while walking near the intersection of South Prior and Bass streets, according to police reports.

INDIAN CHIEF GIVES SPORTS GOODS TALKS

A graduate of Carlisle university, a former football star and a full blooded Oklahoma Indian chief, Chief Shooting Star—now Walter E. Paul, as he has been named by the government—is sporting goods instructor at the Sears-Roebuck company here and is giving daily lectures on uses of sporting goods.

C. M. Lafferty, manager of the company's retail store, announces that Chief Shooting Star will give lessons in trapping, hunting, fishing, pitching tennis and handling camp equipment.

COLLIS

CHECKED QUICK

To check a cold quick and to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza, sore throat or tonsillitis, take one or two Klok-Lax capsules on going to bed. By morning you surely will feel great.

Klok-Lax contains ingredients now recognized the world over to completely clear out the 28-foot intestinal canal of all poisonous wastes which breed disease. And Klok-Lax is as easy to take—no nausea—no griping—and yet you are thoroughly ment between the hours of 9 and 5. The chief will answer any question on his line propounded to him and invites groups of sportsmen and Boy Scouts to call on him.

LIBERAL CHRISTIAN MEMBERS TO HEAR FIFTH OF LECTURES

"What Shall We Do With Our Sundays?" is the sermon at the Liberal Christian church Sunday morning by the pastor, Rev. Clinton Lee Scott. Dr. James Freeman Sellers, dean of faculty and professor of chemistry, will deliver the fifth lecture in the university course being given Sunday evenings under auspices of the men's club. Dr. Sellers' topic will be "Chemistry as a Witness of God in Nature."

OFFICER IS HURT TRYING TO JAIL CRAZED NEGRO

Call Officer Odus C. Howell has a broken finger on his left hand as the result of a hand-to-hand encounter with an alleged crazy negro woman early Friday morning in the rear of 629 Washington street, according to police reports.

Officer Howell with his partner, P. L. Williams, had answered a call to the Washington street address to arrest a negro woman and after they arrived Annette Phillips was pointed out as the supposed crazed woman.

The officer stated to the negro that she would have to go to the police station, whereupon she became enraged and began to grapple with the officer. His little finger on the left hand was broken during the scuffle that followed.

The woman was taken into custody by the officers and placed in the city jail.

Angvine, general passenger agent, of the Ocean Steamship company, of Savannah, will arrive in Atlanta on April 6 from New York for a series of conferences with southern traffic representatives of the company in a canvass of traffic conditions in the south.

Meetings have been called in the office of R. W. Riser, southern traffic representative, in the Fourth National Bank building. Mr. Richardson and Mr. Angvine will remain in Atlanta through April 7.

Auto Struck Lightly

Bennett declared he at first entertained the theory of an attempted assassination, but stated that investigation convinced him of the accidental nature of the side-swipe which sent Mr. Ford over a six-inch curb and down an embankment at the foot of which his coupe struck a tree.

A hull cap of Mr. Ford's car was struck lightly, he said, but nevertheless strongly enough to tear the steering wheel momentarily from the driver's grasp.

Ford investigators had found the automobile at first mentioned as that in which would be excessive noise, and had learned that it had not been in the vicinity of the crash last Sunday night, Bennett said.

MAN IS INDICTED IN BAGGAGE THEFTS

W. E. Holland, 26, of 692 Wheeler street, who recently confessed to detectives that he had entered several rooms in Atlanta hotel where guests were absent and had stolen a quantity of baggage and clothing, was indicted Friday by the Fulton county grand jury on seven charges of larceny from the house.

The indictments charge that he stole articles valued at approximately $800 during his theft regime, which was continuing for two weeks. Holland's plan was to go to a hotel, ask for the key to a certain room and after ascertaining that the guests were "out" the room would be entered with the "pass key" and all the belongings of the guests of any value would be taken. This ruse was worked on several unsuspecting Atlanta hotel clerks.

en of in the first announcement of the accident as having appeared and been overcome.

The two sources close to the 64-year-old manufacturer who last Wednesday night let out the belief that neither his principal nor he regarded the crash as anything but an unavoidable accident which was headed towards the realm of unsolved mysteries.

That the accident occurred at one of the two spots at which being knocked from the road could have had consequences more than trivial had lent support to the belief in some quarters that it was precipitated by design.

NEW CLUB PLANNED AT BROOKHAVEN SITE

Construction of a new country club-house at Brookhaven, which has been discussed by members of the Capital City club for some months past, was definitely advanced toward realization with the recent announcement that Burge and Stevens were commissioned as architects to draw the preliminary plans. The estimated outlay, including equipment for the country club, was set at $200,000.

At the same time further development in the erection of Atlanta's $1,250,000 Shrine mosque were reported. Mayne, Alger and Vinour, architects for the large mosque, for which excavation has been completed at the Peachtree and Kimball streets site are preparing the final plans and specifications, soon to be submitted for contract letting.

DRUID HILLS CHURCH PLANS FOR REVIVAL

Revival services of the Druid Hills church will begin Sunday morning. Dr. R. L. Russell, pastor, will do the preaching and James V. Reid, of Fort Worth, will conduct singing.

Mr. Reid is a member of the International Association of Evangelists and also of the Southern Methodist Bureau of Evangelists. In addition to his ability as a singer and as a choir leader, Mr. Reid is an accomplished pianist, and often plays his own accompaniments.

An unusual feature of the revival will be vesper services which will be direct for young people.

Serv-ces will be held at 10:30 in the morning and 7:45 in the evening.

FATHERS, MOTHERS' SERVICE PLANNED

There will be a special service for fathers and mothers at the Decatur Christian church Sunday night. The annual pre-Easter revival will begin with this special service. There will be no services at the church from April 4 to 9.

The time between these dates will be spent in reviving interest of the church members and in the carrying out of an extensive campaign calling on prospective members. There will be services at the church each evening at 7:30, beginning April 10. The congregation is urged to bring the quartet of Emory university glee club to sing at each service of the revival.

Easter Togs for Twos to Twenties at Rich's

Today---The Last Day!

Rich's Camp Exhibit

—Girls, boys, and parents, today is the last day for you to see the exhibit on our Sixth Floor. Twenty Southern Camps Exhibiting. Miss Dorothy Gow of the Metropolitan Camp Department here through today to give expert advice!

Camp luncheon, 12:30
in Tea Room.

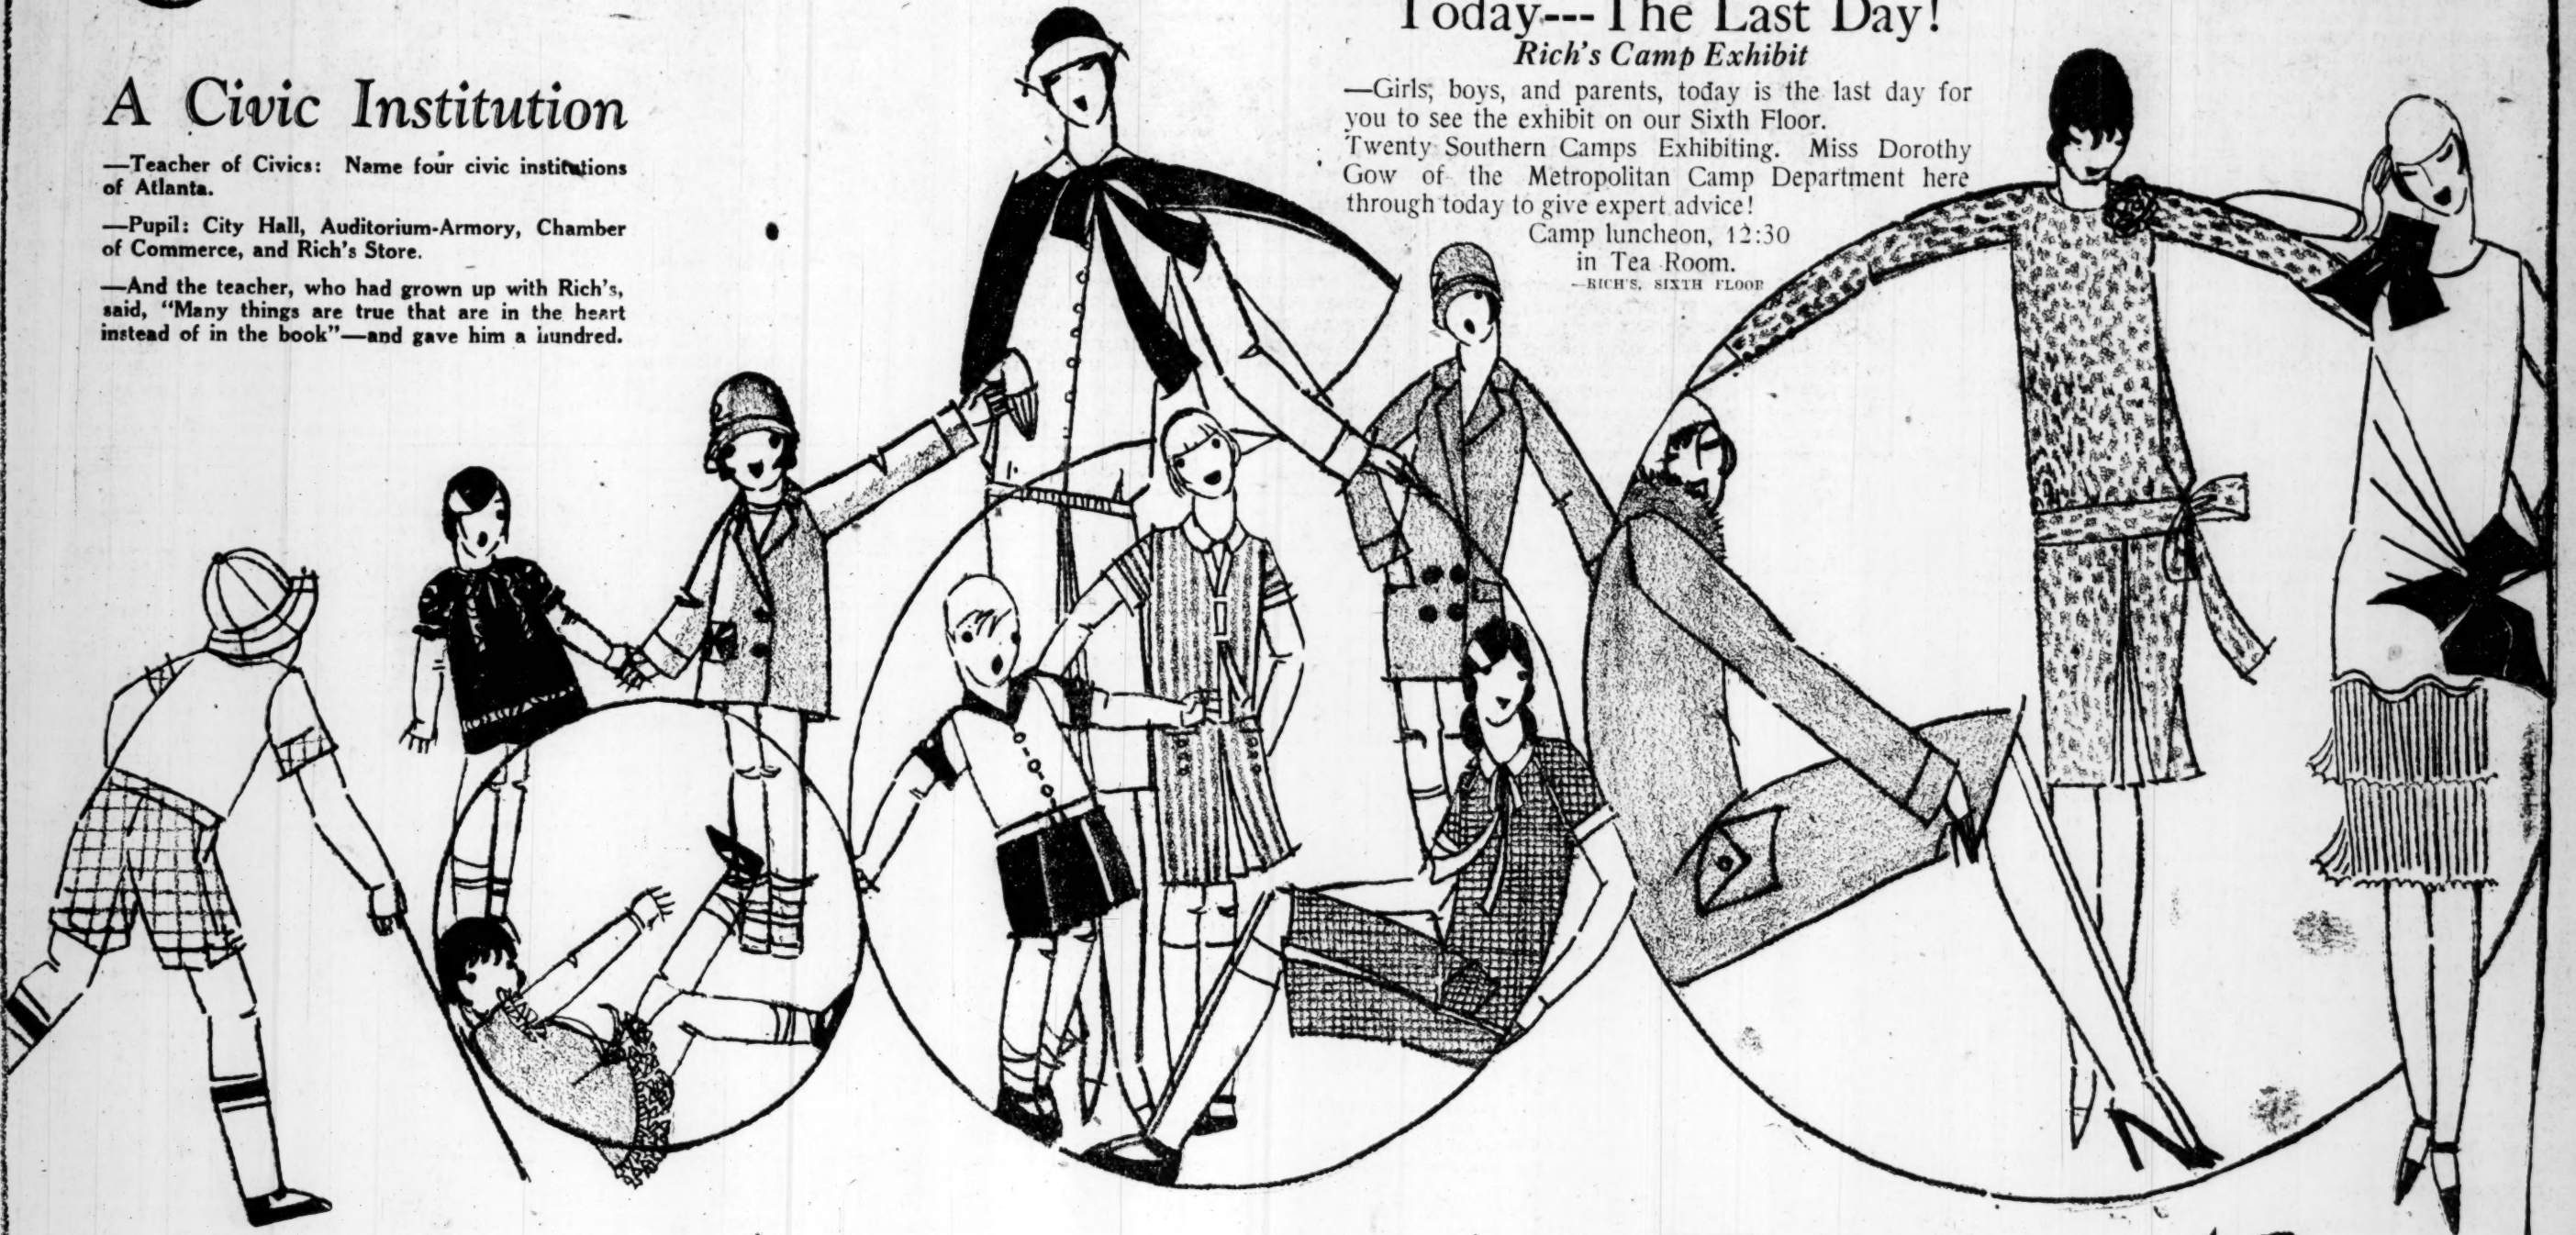

—RICH'S, SIXTH FLOOR

A Civic Institution

—Teacher of Civics: Name four civic institutions of Atlanta.

—Pupil: City Hall, Auditorium-Armory, Chamber of Commerce, and Rich's Store.

—And the teacher, who had grown up with Rich's, said, "Many things are true that are in the heart instead of in the book"—and gave him a hundred.

Spring Coats for Miss 2 to 6

$9.95

Coats that will rival the bunnies and fascinating eggs! Childhood's own, but with becoming touches that will thrill her feminine ego... however young! Of Botany flannel, tweeds, twill and serges! Suede belts—cunning pockets! Vivid greens, tans, French blues and navy. Priced $9.95, $12.50, $15.95 and $19.95.

$12.95 Austrian Frocks

Young America will love a frock from far away Austria... charming enough for a Royal little girl! Crepe de chine vividly embroidered. Navy, French blue, and rose. Sizes 2 to 6. Little dresses of filmy georgette and crepe de chine. Fluttering with ruffles! Pink, peach, blue and coral. Sizes 1 to 6. $3.95 to $8.95.

Her Easter Bonnet

Spring tucked her choicest flowers—her own soft colors—into an Easter bonnet for her favorite child—Miss 2 to 6! Rayon and braids, straws, leghorns, Panamas and real Italian Milans! Versatile little hats that droop demurely or turn upward to reveal sparkling eyes! Priced $2.50, $2.95, $4.95 and $7.50.

—RICH'S, THIRD FLOOR

Tub Silk Frocks

$3.95

—Practical little frocks, mother, for all their winning loveliness. For they are absolutely tubable! Styles are simple—but demurely so—as should be things for the young!

—Frocks for the whole spring—pretty enough for Easter morning—even!

Easter Bonnets

$1.95 to $8.95

—Out of the bandbox on Easter morning, should come the delight of her heart! Choose one from the selection here! Any style she desires you will find—at a price you feel right. Head sizes to fit, 6 to 14.

Spring Coats

$14.95

—The styles and colors of these coats are decidedly alluring to the vanity of Miss 8 to 14. The quality of the materials—kashas, twills, tweeds—are appealing to Mother's practicality. And the price is attractive to the budget! Sizes 8 to 14.

—MISS JUNIOR SHOP

M. RICH & BROS. Co.

BROAD-ALABAMA & FORSYTH STS. PHONE WALNUT 4636

Starring Dulcie Jayne

By VIRGINIA TRACY.

INSTALLMENT IX.

NO ANSWER.
In Hertog's entrance doorway three young players of small parts were chattering. "The buses won't stop. Let's phone for a taxi! We can find somebody who'll go fourth and split the price."

"I will," said Cornelia.

"She hasn't called up yet," quivered Mrs. Marsh, out of the set of evening papers elaborating on Dulcie's arrival. "I've been expecting every minute she'd call up to ask you for news from the office."

"So she will, before the evening's over!" Cornelia, glowing, smiled. But she did not.

Mrs. Marsh came down the steps from the lawyer's office in what we call a stupor of nervous misery, but it was nothing so merciful as stupor. It was a nightmare, in which nerves anything but stupefied were running, groping, and protesting, round and round in a fog. Yet the lawyer was no oracle as to the fate of Independence Pictures, nor did he voice any vengeance of Hertog's. He was merely a friend of Miss Browne, who had kindly consented to give the poor Marshes a little free advice as to a certain clause in the lease of the Bronx flat. For it was now Friday in the first week of February and Dulcie Jayne had made no sign.

The Marshes had lived an aeon of purgatory in less than a fortnight. That first flushed, expectant evening had seemed strained and jumpy while it lasted, but in the morning's light told themselves they had been merely greedy fools to imagine the child wouldn't have more pressing things to attend to, her first evening in America again, with all she had ahead of her. On Tuesday, at a Hertog's now attainable by regulated luncheon, Cornelia had passed a cheerful if high-strung day expecting to be greeted by news of Dulcie as she put her key in the living room door that evening. But he had been the Marshes had had to deny very vigorously to each other that Dulcie's silence surprised them.

Even in the newspapers she continued silent. These contained, indeed, a brief interview with Mr. Mack, "Miss Jayne's father and representative." The Marshes looked at one another. "Why isn't Henry her representative?" "Where's Mr. Hertog?" "Can her father have separated from him?" "I think not," Cornelia said. But Miss Jayne's father and representative said only that at the proper time Miss Jayne would reply to Mr. Lyman Hertog's assertion that she had been the first to break her contract. For the present, by the advice of her attorney, she had no comment to make.

Clearly Mr. Mack had seen the futility of eluding Lyman any longer, and had ranged his attorney against her. But if her attorney knew what proofs of Lyman's perfidy were now ready to Dulcie's hand, would he still withhold her reply? And, besides, Mrs. Marsh wanted to know what harm there could be in Cornelia's calling up to say welcome home, and what kind of voice had Dulcie had. It would be only decently polite, Mrs. Marsh thought. For two days Cornelia resisted. But as the soreness in her throat deepened the tension of the crisis, she heard the hotel reply, "Miss Jayne does not answer her phone." Cornelia left her home and the address which her mother somewhat unconsciously suggested Dulcie might have had, and on Sunday, quite calmly, tried again. "I'll sit right down if I were you," Mrs. Marsh had said that evening.

"and write her a note. I don't believe there's a hotel in the world where they're really reliable about messages. I remember there was one they never gave your father at all—"

Without argument Cornelia did sit down and write that a piece of crucially important evidence relative to Lyman's lawsuit had come into her possession; it was too important for Cornelia to trust it to the mails or to any one but Dulcie herself. Having written this letter smoothly and almost abstractedly, as if it had been dictated to her in a trance, Cornelia took it out at once and mailed it in the mood of one who makes the final sacrifice of honor to expedience. It seemed the last rag of something she had cherished in her soul which she dropped into the mail box. She did not complain of the sacrifice; it seemed to her high time that she should sacrifice anything she had. But she did not believe that there would be any answer and, in the dizzy ache and wonder of her wound, she imagined that she was reconciled to there being none.

But the realities of Monday morning roused tringes of hope. Monday was the first of February, rent day, and the Marshes had got together barely half the rent. If good news came from Dulcie on Monday morning they could face the agent with a lessened qualm. Once more Cornelia came home stealing one sharp, furtive glance at the newspaper's face in search of news. But Dulcie had not answered.

Cornelia told herself that now they must cease to think about Dulcie. And in a way she did cease to think about her. But she could not cease to feel about her. This suppressed and unacknowledged feeling gnawed at Cornelia's strength, like the Spartan boy's fox gnawing on his breast, and ate it secretly away all the while that outside events were requiring every bit of strength which a united Marsh family could possibly bring to bear against them. For by this time Mrs. Marsh had had an unpleasant encounter with the renting agent.

(The Marshes, who had never owed any money in their lives, were entirely innocent of the procrastinations and convulsions by which people live without paying bills. In the simplicity of their creed if you had contracted a debt you gave all you had in the world to pay it and then it was up to the creditor whether or not he chose to cut off your head for the rest. In this spirit they brought their heads to the feet of the agent, who did not know what to do with them, but saw that it was up to him to do something unpleasant.)

Cornelia ingeniously supposed that their former punctuality of payment would count in their favor. But Mrs. Marsh had kept her old eyes open as she walked through the world and she knew that nothing starles people's attention like change. If the Marshes had been in the habit of being late with the rent the agent would simply have thought that they were having a bit of hard luck but would pay up when they got the money, as they had before. But, as it was their not paying was portentous, suggesting a crash, a definite catastrophe, epoch-making. Evidently the decent, elderly, self-supporting Marsh ladies had begun to slide down hill. And the agent was none the less insistent as to the fact that when decent, elderly, self-supporting ladies begin to slide down hill they do not easily slide up again.

He was no clearer on this fact than was Mrs. Marsh herself. To her, as to him, when persons whose money-making days are passed cannot pay one month's rent it is plainly unlikely that they can pay two. Through long night watches Mrs. Marsh faced the fact that, in their lodgerless condition, the Bronx flat was too expensive for them. She had always conceived of their going to it, she and Lionel Marsh's daughter, as to a distasteful but temporary shelter till their train came in. But now she saw that they must go further and fare worse. They must get something even less pleasant, but cheaper, so much cheaper that they could live in it on Cornelia's salary without gambling with lodgers. They must have it and he ready to move into it by the fifteenth, when the half month's rent which they were paying here would be used up.

CHOMSKY TRIAL

IS POSTPONED
UNTIL MONDAY

Trial of Charles H. Chomsky, who indicted jointly last year with

C. L. Patton on charges of using the mails to defraud in connection with alleged false credit information statements, began Friday in United States district court, and was adjourned until Monday.

The government charges Chomsky with making false statements to credit agencies in order to obtain credit for a hosiery and notions business. Patton was convicted last October on this charge and is now serving a term of 15 months in the federal penitentiary.

On a plea of guilty Friday in district court, Maxwell Williams, former special delivery messenger, was sentenced to pay a $25 fine or serve 30 days in jail on a charge of detaining a letter.

PAROLES APPROVED
FOR 19 PRISONERS
AT FEDERAL PRISON

Nineteen out of a total of 104 applicants won their cases Friday in hearings before the parole board of the Atlanta federal penitentiary in a special meeting called to consider cases held over from the last regular session.

All but three of those recommended by the attorney general as a result of Friday's meeting are inmates of the honorary farm, their applications having been approved by the board as a reward for hard and diligent work on the prison farm. Practically all of those recommended for parole have only sev-

Aix ordered that the charges be dismissed and the charges be dropped.

The meeting will remain in Atlanta until

Sunday, when he will leave to attend a parole board meeting at the Fort

Leavenworth prison.

'MURDERED' MAN JUDGE ACQUITTED
RETURNS, SAVES 6 ON SEVEN COUNTS

Indianapolis, April 1.—(United News.)—Judge Clarence Dearth has been acquitted of impeachment charges which grew out of his fight with George R. Dale, editor of the Muncie Post-Democrat.

The state senate failed to vote Friday a two-thirds majority for conviction on any one of the seven charges against the jurist, but came within two of conviction on the second count, accusing Dearth of illegally suppressing Judge Dearth's trial was the first in Indiana history in which a judge was accused of interfering with the constitutional guarantee of freedom of the press.

Dale is under arrest on a criminal libel indictment growing out of publication of the attack on Dearth in the issue which the judge suppressed.

WESTERN STORMS KILL 7 PERSONS

Kansas City, April 1.—(United Press.)—Flood and storm losses are mounting rapidly in the southwest. A check up Friday night revealed that seven persons had been killed in windstorms and that thousands of families had been driven from their Whipping four states with a wind-driven rain, March took a parting shot at Missouri, Arkansas and Oklahoma, leaving devastation and flood in its wake.

Further north, it was cold enough for snow. In parts of South Dakota 12 inches fell, while snow was reported even in Detroit although the weather was too warm for it to last. Chicago experienced one of its cold

Four storm deaths were reported in Oklahoma, two in Kansas and one in Missouri. Three persons were hit by lightning, Elvis Trusty, 17, of Muskogee, Okla.; Joe Burroughs, 45, of Davenport, Okla., and Leslie Jones, 17, assistant professional at the Springfield Golf and Country club, Springfield, Mo.

LEADER OF URBAN LEAGUE PICTURES
NEGRO PROGRESS

St. Louis, April 1.—(P)—Public opinion of the negro in the light of the latter's accomplishments, must undergo a marked revision, Lloyd Garrison, of New York, one of the white officers of the National Urban league, told the league in annual conference here today. Garrison is a great-grandson of William Lloyd Garrison, the abolitionist.

Although the present generation of Negroes is but the third since slavery. Garrison said, more than 700,000 own their own homes. Negroes operate 73 banks in this country with assets of $100,000,000 and control several large insurance companies. Negro newspapers and periodicals, he said, have a weekly circulation of 2,000,000.

ance of the Negro college and its graduates and composers, ballad writers, poets and novelists and said that there are 10,000 negro college graduates in America and that the number of undergraduates now in colleges is seven times larger than five years ago. He told how negroes had led in their classes at Williams, Harvard, Pennsylvania and Yale.
